

We offer a personalized appointment reminder service (NexHealth) that will text and/or email you of upcoming appointments with our office. NexHealth will send informative messages pertaining to your next appointment via text and/or email. This system makes it easy to confirm your next appointment with our office. Generally, the system will text and/or email you one week prior to your appointment to confirm. It will then send you a reminder three days prior to your appointment, if no confirmation was made through email or text someone from our office will call your home phone and leave a voice message. Please specify below your preference for confirming appointments.
